Home composting

Made from sustainable and renewable materials with significantly reduced carbon footprint. Their unique composition allows for easy breakdown and decomposition in soil, eliminating the necessity for special processing. This remarkable attribute makes them ideal for home composters, fostering an eco-friendly approach while also alleviating the burden on landfill sites.

Unlike conventional plastics, which pose a threat to the environment, these home composting products do not accumulate and pollute. By choosing this sustainable alternatives, you contribute to a cleaner, greener planet, demonstrating your commitment to responsible waste management and safeguarding the environment for future generations.

Industrial composting

Industrial composting refers to the process of breaking down and decomposing food containers, utensils, and other packaging materials on a large-scale in specialized composting facilities. Unlike home composting, which is typically done on a smaller scale, industrial composting is more efficient and effective for handling a substantial volume of organic waste.

The main goal of industrial composting is to divert food disposable packaging from landfills and incinerators which helps to reduce greenhouse gas emissions and minimize environmental pollution. Instead of ending up in landfills, where food packaging can take years or even centuries to decompose, industrial composting offers a more sustainable solution.

Recycling

Disposable food packaging recycling refers to the process of collecting, sorting, and processing single-use food containers, wrappers, and other packaging materials made from recyclable materials. The primary aim of recycling these items is to divert them from landfills and instead transform them into new products or materials, reducing the environmental impact and conserving valuable resources.

To maximize the effectiveness of disposable food packaging recycling, it is essential for consumers to properly dispose of recyclable materials in designated recycling bins and for businesses to provide accessible recycling facilities and educate their customers and employees about recycling practices. By collectively embracing recycling efforts, we can work towards a more environmentally responsible and sustainable future.

Our Materials

Switching to sustainable packaging reduces the use of non-renewable resources, and will enable a shift in the way waste is managed.

Know your options:

We strongly encourage you to embrace sustainable and eco-friendly alternative to traditional oil-based plastics, especially in the food service sector. By making the switch to sustainable tableware, we can significantly reduce our reliance on non-renewable resources and positively impact waste management practices. Our mission is to offer school canteens, event organizers, universities, distributors, governmental agencies, not-for-profit organizations, and food service operators access to excellent sustainable food service products at economically sensible prices. We invite you to be a part of this movement!

However, we understand the importance of functionality and branding in food packaging. Our commitment is to provide packaging solutions that not only align with sustainable practices but also meet your specific needs. Our team will work closely with you to ensure that the packaging chosen serves its purpose effectively and aids in preventing food waste. We believe that sustainability and functionality can go hand in hand, allowing you to make environmentally conscious choices without compromising on quality or brand identity.

Together, we can drive positive change in the food service sector by adopting sustainable packaging solutions. Join us in this endeavour, and let's create a greener and more sustainable future for our communities and the planet.

Areca Plam Leaves

Areca trees have large leaves, or fronds, which shed and fall to the ground every few weeks. The leaves are usually collected and burned. Our Palm Leaf range turns these leaves into disposable plates, bowls, platters – natural, compostable and biodegradable.

A strong, semi flexible yet not brittle, odourless, water and heat resistant leaf, this product has its own natural grains, characteristic texture and colour. Each one is unique. The leaves are sorted, and then washed and heat pressed into a variety of shapes such as bowls, plates and platters (this also sterilizes the leaf) maximizing the use of this beautiful natural product. No pulp, no starch, just a washed and pressed leaf. Totally natural.

End of life option: Use it again or you can compost it.

Bamboo / Pulp / Paper

Fast growing bamboo regenerates quickly, making it a sustainable choice. Growing at a rate of up to 91 cm a day, Bamboo is one of the fastest growing plants on earth. Bamboo requires no irrigation and unlike trees it rarely needs replanting. It grows rapidly and can be harvested in 3-5 years.

Wood / Paper

The raw material used for our wooden cutlery and paper cups is wood, from sustainably managed forests, natural renewable resource.

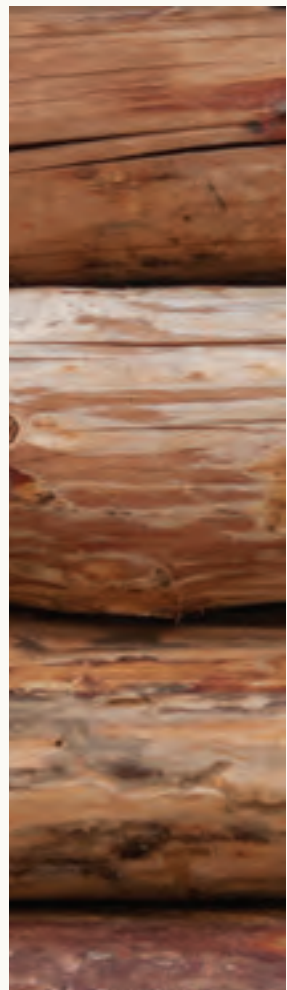

Paper cups end of life options: our paper cups with aqueous coating are home compostable; our paper cups with PLA / BioPBS lining are compostable in industrial composting facility only.

Wooden cutlery end of life options: compostable.

Cardboard / Recycled Content

Cardboard is made from a renewable resource, compostable and easily recyclable, with less production emissions. The raw material used for carton manufacture is wood fibre. At the end of life, cartons are collected and recycled and form a secondary raw material.

End of life options: Folding cartons can easily be recycled by reprocessing in a mill, where the fibres are separated. The recovered fibre is then used to make cartonboard or another paper or board product. Alternatively, they can either be composted, a process also known as “organic recycling”, or if recycling is no longer a viable option, their energy content can be recovered in an energy-from-waste incinerator.

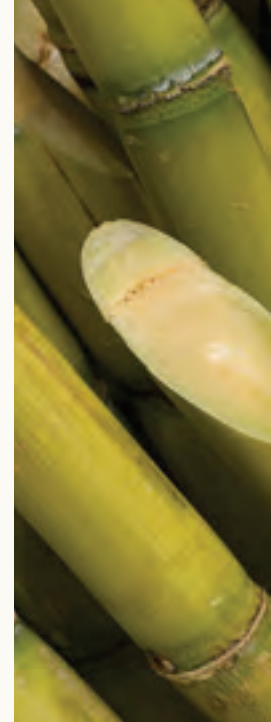

Sugarcane Bagasse / Pulp

Sugarcane bagasse itself is a waste material, the dry fibrous residue left after sugarcane stalks have been crushed to extract the juice mainly for sugar manufacturing. When the fibers already crushed, less energy is required to make bagasse products compared with pulping wood for paper products.

Products made from sugarcane bagasse are strong and durable, natural fibre is very pleasant to touch and breathable. Leak and oil proof, with no lining required. Microwavable (warm up only). Oven safe up to 220°C for 20 minutes. Refrigerator/freezer safe. Compostable and recyclable (paper stream).

Our products are made to decompose in a commercial composting facility within 60-90 days. Suitable for home composting. Complies with ASTM D6400 and EN13432 reports for compostability.

PET

The most common type of plastic produced and used worldwide. PET is highly transparent, a great presentation choice for your creations to shine through! PET is durable, versatile and 100% recyclable when properly disposed of. Recycling points are widely available, including households, commercial and in public.

PET is one of the easiest plastics to recycle and can be recycled into PET bottles, jars, clothing, park benches and roads.

PLA / BioPBS Biobased Plastic

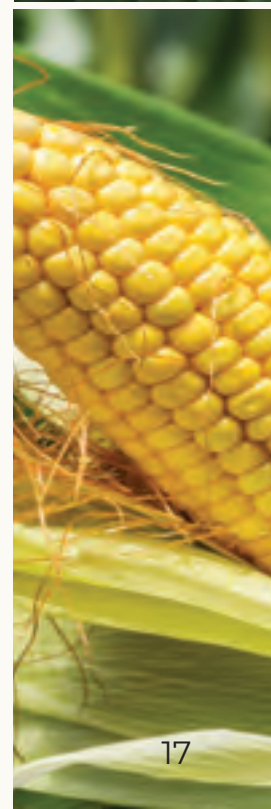

PLA biobased plastic is a bioplastic produced from corn.

BioPBS is another bioplastic also derived from natural resources such as sugarcane, cassava and corn.

The production of PLA and BioPBS produces fewer greenhouse gas emissions, when compared to conventional plastic production.

Products made from PLA/BioPBS bioplastic are compostable in industrial composting facility only.

Please note, that clear cups and containers are heat sensitive and must be stored out of direct sun, away from any heat sources and kept below 35°C.
